

SUBJECT: Denise the Dinosaur and your child...

Hi [firstname]

It's Kim from www.website-address.org, and I have a question for you.

Are you a parent with a 2-year-old?

Then you've probably discovered just how challenging it can be to choose the best toys for your toddler.

So many decisions to make.

And... if you make the WRONG one, the consequences can be devastating – not only for your child, but also for you.

Imagine living for the rest of your life with the guilt that you've given your toddler a toy that left her BRAIN DAMAGED for life!

Did you know, for example, some toys are made of plastic-softening chemicals toxic to children?

Or that other toys are covered in lead paint – also highly dangerous to human health?

And some make sounds so loud they can harm your toddler's hearing – FOREVER.

But there's more...

Your child can also CHOKE to death on toys small enough to swallow, or with small removable parts.

But apart from the safety concerns about the toys you choose, you also have to bear two more things in mind – the toy's EDUCATIONAL value, and how it helps develop (or stunt) your child's PERSONALITY.

Between the ages of 2 and 5 explosive growth takes place in a child's brain... or not, depending on what kinds of influences the child receives.

Here again, toys that stimulate your child mentally will help to increase his IQ level.

While those that require little thought will block his intellectual growth.

Toys that make use of symbols, such as letters and numbers, are especially helpful.

And speaking of personality, the right toys can also help to build your toddler's self-confidence and give her an outgoing, warm nature.

But how will you know WHICH toys to get for your child?

Where can you go to quickly and easily choose the safest, most educational, and FUN toys?

Go here:

[ORDER LINK]

I've set up this blog, "Toys for 2-Year-Olds," to give you all the information you need in a quick and readable format.

Here you'll find suggestions for all kinds of excellent toys.

Simply click on the pictures and you'll be taken to Amazon.com, where you can read what other parents – just like you – say about these toys.

This way you'll know whether or not you'd like to get them for your own child as well.

So click on the link below and go check out this helpful resource right now:

[ORDER LINK]

Kind regards

Kim Blake

PS In our 21st century you have to be wise about the toys you give your child.

Get the wrong toy, and... you could damage your child for life.

Could you live with that?

[ORDER LINK]